Angela says

It says African American Erotica but the stories were different. One was about closure. Different styles of short stories

*my personal faves were: good-bye, kiwi, one-night stand, pisces, and the princess and the cop

(FROM JACKET)A powerful collection of erotica from today's leading black writers and fresh voices, BLACK SILK explores exciting territory in the realm of the African American experience. From Eric Jerome Dickey's rueful tale of lust to Lolita Files's scorching account of insatiable adventuring...to Breena Clarke's tribute to the strength of erotic imagination...to Camika Spencer's encounters online and in the flesh...to Carolyn Ferrell's story of intergenerational desire and discovery, this book sings of the power of the forbidden and the transforming-with unforgettable characters who claim their pleasure and seek its ultimate limits. Never before published, never before available, these erotic short stories are a dazzlingly sensual mediation on the very soul of passion...

Typical collection of short stories. Mostly good, a few duds and a few in between. Most of those that were good were REALLY good. Also covered many topics such as same sex relationships, BDSM, etc. Worth the time to read.
