The Brightons are just an ordinary, small-town, law-abiding family. Until somebody else's mistake uncovers the truth--Jake and Carolyn Brighton are the FBI's two most wanted fugitives. Jake and Carolyn have lived a lie for fourteen years to protect themselves. But now they have to protect their thirteen-year-old son, Travis. Newark Arkansas was the sight of an eco-disaster unparalleled and two fugitives named Jake and Carolyn Donovan have been eluding the FBI for 14 years. But when federal investigators break into his car dealership, Jake thinks the law has finally caught up with him. It turns out to be a drug bust, but Jake knows that it's only a matter of time before they discover who he really is. It's time to run again. But how do you explain all of this to your 13-year-old son who has no clue why you've had to move so often? Will a wealthy Uncle Harry help them disappear one more time? Or should they stop running and confront the past to find the evidence they need to prove they are innocent? Once you're on the trail of a conspiracy, no one is safe - including your son.

Great suspense!

Hazel McHaffie says

A useful book to read in my search for the secret of thriller writing. And the pages certainly turned easily.

Vicki Willis says

This was the first stand alone I have read by this author. I really enjoy the Jonathan Graves series, but this one did not hold my attention like the series does. It started out fast and strong and ended fast and strong, but the middle dragged for me. It took weeks for me to finally finish reading the book. The premise was good. An everyday family (or are they?) against an evil government entity. I am giving it 3 stars.

Prasad J says

The story has a great start but later it has a bit disconnected scenarios.

Twists and Turns

I really enjoy the way John Gilstrap weaves his stories together out of dozens of threads. What do a U.S. senator, a manager of a body shop, a picked on kid, a bureaucrat at the EPA, his unhappy wife, an FBI field agent and a ruthless Chicago businessman have in common? You'll have to read this book to find out.

Jerrid Smeal says

Great Book!!!

Totally enjoyed the way it all came together. There was no slow places or gaps in the authors direction. Just great!!!

I think it was one of the readers of these pages that first turned me on to John Gilstrap. I really liked his first book, Nathan's Run, but this one may have to go on my top ten list for 2000. It is spectacular. Jake and Carolyn Brighton are the perfect small town couple. Until, that is, their small town finds out that these two are actually two of the FBI's most wanted fugitives. Their 'crime' was 14 years ago and their outing causes them to go back to the scene to prove their innocence. It is a fabulously crafted story and one who's ending kept me reading far too late last night.

Julie Kellner says

A great thriller to start but when down hill from there, drawn out with it ending in a whimper

Leah says

I found the interactions of characters at crisis moments less than plausible.

Matthew Russell says

In the early part of his career, John Gilstrap wrote a lot about families in jeopardy. Now it seems like he's delved into more Clancy-type territory. This is kind of like Running On Empty, and is a great sample of early Gilstrap.

Dave says

It was f-bomb good (you will have to read the 2011 release to understand the significance of my comment)

Dee Haddrill says

John Gilstrap has written another taut page-turning thriller that you will find very hard to put down. Those who have read his amazing Jonathan Grave series will remember Irene Rivers as Jonathan's tough CIA link and long time friend. This book brings us one of Irene's first big cases, showing how her dogged pursuit of the truth gets her the nickname of Wolverine. Jake and Carolyn Donovan have been on the run for 14 years after being accused of a mass murder and labelled as terrorists. After their last identity is compromised, they grab their pre-teen son, Travis, and head off once again. But now, they have decided to fight the conspiracy and work to bring the truth to life. Problem is, they are now facing Irene and her band of FBI agents who are determined to bring them into custody. Lots of twists and turns, close calls and dangers, make this a fantastic, fast paced story that will keep you riveted.

Like all John Gilstrap books, At All Costs grabs you from page one and doesn't let go. In the opening chapter, the reader is thrust into the lives of Jake and Carolyn; normal everyday people with normal everyday jobs, a son and a home, until one incident sends them fleeing for their lives, on the run from the police and FBI. By chapter two, we find out the couple hold the number one spot on the FBI's Top Ten Most Wanted list. They have been in hiding for the last 12 years and don't intend to give that up now.

Enter Irene Rivers from the Jonathan Graves series. As FBI agent in charge of bringing Jake and Carolyn in, she must not only save her reputation by capturing Jake and Carolyn, but unravel the question of if they are really guilty.

As a huge fan of John Gilstrap, I was thrilled to read the story of how Irene Rivers got to the top of the FBI. This is a woman who demands her own series. She is tough, capable, smart and tender all at the same time. I'd love to read more of her story.

If you are a Gilstrap fan, you will love At All Costs. If not, you will be after reading this.

This was an exciting book--a real page turner. It was recommended to my book discussion group. I had not read this author before but enjoyed his work and will look for other books he has written. As I read the book, I could not help but hope the main characters would come out ok in the end. I recommend this book to readers who like action-packed thrillers.

M.J. Webb says

I saw this book and read it on the strength of the blurb. A fast-paced thriller which stands the test of time, it is penned in such a wonderful manner that it takes you on an emotional journey along with the main characters. There are not too many twists and turns, just a good plot and an enjoyable read.
