Gillian's Island Cat Johnson

A beautiful bride, a handsome groom, and a private cruise. What could possibly go wrong? How about a hurricane, one stranded yacht, a few useless, scantily clad bridesmaids and an equal number of horny groomsman?

In the midst of it all, maid of honor Gillian Marlboro wonders if Jamie Foster could be not only the groom's best man, but also the man for her. Would the universe be so cruel as to hand her the perfect man and then let them both perish on an island that provides no fresh water and only Mother Nature's aphrodisiacs for sustenance?

Gillian is happy for her sister who is getting married soon. She's es happy to be maid of honor. What she's not too happy about is the last minute private cruise the groom has booked or the fact that the soon to be bride and groom have decided to try to set her up.....Jamie knows his place, he's the best man, he's the geek of the group and he most likely won't get the girl...or will he..."Geeks rule the world...onto the next
