(ASIN B014RCH66M moved to the latest edition as per guidelines.)

The first three Warriors of the Lathar stories now in one bundle!

Captured by the Alien Lord -

He's big, sexy and even his muscles have muscles. Any other day, she'd climb him like a tree... If he hadn't captured her, and her entire base that is.

Sergeant Cat Moore has a little problem. Well, actually a big problem... a big alien war-group sized problem. When her base is attacked and boarded by a Lathar war group, she finds herself in the sights of their leader, Tarrick K'Vass.

The strong, not so silent and ruthless type, Tarrick's duty as a war commander means little time for himself. With no women of their own, a base full of human women is a bounty he can't ignore. Nor can he ignore the little human whose voice called out to him across the galaxy, a woman he'll stop at nothing to make his own. Even if it means a little blackmail...

Saved by the Alien Lord -

Earth girls might be popular...but they're definitely not easy.

Kidnapped by sexy aliens, Cat and the women of the Sentinel Five base are looking for a way home. Their captors might be ripped, hot warriors looking for that one special woman, but these girls have this little thing against being slaves. Even if their leader is well on his way to stealing Cat's heart as well as her body...

Then a new player enters the arena. A dangerous rival war-commander has challenged the K'Vass claim on Terran held space and all it's women. Tarrick K'Vass can't afford to let any of the earth women be captured, especially not his little human, Cat.

When his human is taken, he'll do anything to rescue her... Anything. Up to and including starting an intergalactic war.

Bonded to the Alien Lord -

Today is a good day to... get married?

Kidnapped by her very own alien hunk, Cat Moore is rapidly adapting to life as the chosen woman of bad-ass War Commander Tarrick K'Vass. It's not so bad. Her sexy alien has a thing about making sure her every need is met and has some very inventive ways of doing so. Until she gives him a bad case of mating marks around his wrist, and all bets are off. They're married without so much as a bended knee in sight, then summoned to the Imperial Court so the Emperor can bless their union.

Why? Because her sexy alien lover left one thing out when he introduced himself. Like being a freaking alien prince.

But someone doesn't want humans and lathar getting it on, and they certainly don't like the possibility of little human-lathar babies. In fact, they'd be more than happy if Cat and the other women didn't survive past the wedding.

Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned? Try a bride whose alien wedding just got gatecrashed. Seems humans might be more like the Lathar than anyone thought...

*This bundle contains three previously released serial novellas: Captured by the Alien Lord, Saved by the Alien Lord, and Bonded to the Alien Lord.

Same Sci-Fi Romance I've read time and time again.

I give this one 4 stars because it was a decent read good plot, characters, the reason I give it four and not five I would have to say is because it wasn't unique I guess is the best way I can describe it. This read just like any other sci-fi romance novel I've read before, and it was very short for the price. Mostly I don't venture outside of kindle unlimited but I have pretty much read all they have to offer in this genre so I splurged and purchased this book but I am disappointed I had hoped it would be better. The women are taken from their ship and Cat is claimed by their commander and they're found to be compatible with their species so they plan to keep them but then they're taken by a rival clan and then the commander and his troops board their rivals ship to take the women back to find them fighting their enemies. They end up helping the women defeat their enemies and take them back to their ship and to their emperor. Once they reach the emperor they have a bonding ceremony for cat and the commander and a fight breaks out at the ceremony by some purist rebels and they're defeated and then the happy couple go off to their honey moon the end. See what I mean I've summed up this story in a few short words. So I would suggest saving your money.

Grade A-. What a fun ride this was. Cat Moore is a working crew member aboard a space ship when they are boarded by War Commander Tarrick K'Vass. He is a Latharian with advanced technology but a dying race that desperately need compatible women that can bear them children. Guess what species is compatible? Of course they are stymied by the fact that human women can be effective soldiers and quite fierce when threatened. This is a pretty detailed story with multiple characters, species and customs that are explained well and organically. I understood this original story to be in several novella parts but I read this as a single combined novel and I liked it far more than I expected. There's a lot of insta-attraction and erections all over the place but a solid story underneath it all.

Tarrick and his Moore Cat

This was a good little story. Tarrick is the War Commander and his soldiers just invaded this human ship to locate women to mate with. In his society breedable women are precious and few so these sexy alien hunters are on the prowl. Cat is a tech savvy military officer on her ship and she is a female with backbone and intelligence. The actual plot and characterization are great but the passion and sexual energy between the couple is just okay. The setup is great but the sex is something that you can get in a regular old married couple. I will keep reading because of the story, it is entertaining.

Jan says

Cat had tech skills along with her friend Jess. But that was nothing when their ship was boarded and taken over by Latharian soldiers. They couldn't allow them to get into the tech so Cat risked it and did a manual dump. But she got caught when it was all done. Tarrick is Commander of his vessel and Lathar needed women. He would have no problem taking them but he was also looking for one in particular.

Cat is one strong woman. The alien's think that women are weak and have no skill. She shows them that she, for one, isn't weak and is unwilling to have any woman on her crew used. They all deserve a choice. They aren't to be used as sex slaves. That if the Latharian needed women, that perhaps they could have negotiated something. Tarrick and his crew are actually a little dumbfounded. And the fact that Cat can think out all the tech stuff is just another surprise. But there was also a twist. I love a good series. And I cant wait to read the rest.

Ummm... Yes Please ;)

I really liked this one. Not sure how eager I am to read the entire series in order. They all sound really interesting. We'll see. I'm definitely going to be reading these for a bit though.

Terrific read

I really enjoyed reading this one. Although 3 short stories it follows Cat and the other human women. If you enjoy reading sci-fi romantic fiction then you will love it.

Monica says

So, of course I've already read these books all separately. I was excited to get them in a box set. Its a different alien world than I have read. It took getting used to after I read the first part. It was released in different parts at the time. However, it grew on me and I ended up loving it. Tarrick and Cat are awesome characters. They are sorta alike but not. She fights him at first but ends up not being able to keep her hands off him. She makes the "sacrifice" to mate Tarrick to save her fellow human women who were also captured. Yeah its a real sacrifice for her too! LOL. Anyways, read it cause you'd love it too! Cat totally has him wrapped around her finger so to speak. These aliens are big but they value women who don't really exist where they come from. Love this series and cant wait for more!

Title: Tarrick

Series: Warrior of the Lethar

Designation: Books One thru Three Bundle, Standalone, No Cliffhanger, Sci-Fi Alien Invasion Romance

Author: Mina Carter

My Rating: FIVE SUPER SEXY SCI-FI STARS *****

Jackpot! Another winner from Mina Carter! Tarrick is the compilation of the first three books in Mina's riveting new series, Warriors of the Lethar and what a tasty tidbit it is! Tarrick is the Lethar warrior featured in this vignette of the series and he is one sexy alien! I originally read this story as it was released in three delicious installments. Sadly for me, I had to wait patiently for each, but fortunately for you, Mina has compiled the entire story into one fabulous bundle and is now available for your reading pleasure! WooHoo! No waiting and no cliffhangers! And Mina never disappoints her readers! She has once again done what she does best. And what is that, you ask? She has delivered another exceptionally well written masterpiece of science fiction filled with aliens, action, adventure and romance! Ou..La..La... I love it! This is now a complete standalone story featuring Book One, Captured By The Alien Lord, Book Two, Saved by the Alien Lord and Book Three, Bonded to the Alien Lord. Please be forewarned, since I originally read the books individually, my review is posted as it was written for each book separately so it may contain a couple of wee spoilers. Buckle up my lovelies! Let the invasion begin!

Book One: Captured by the Alien Lord

War Commander Tarrick K'Vass has searched the Galaxy for the mysterious woman whose voice he heard on an intercepted unidentified radio transmission. Her voice has haunted not only his dreams but also his every waking moment and he's determined to search the entire galaxy to locate her. When he does find her, it's not only the shock of his life, but also what very well may be the hope for which his people have long searched. He not only finds beautiful Sgt. Cat Moore on the remote space station, Sentinel Five, but also a new race called humans and their women, surprisingly, seem to be sexually compatible with the Letharian warrior race! What? Now, all he has to do is capture her, conquer her, win her heart and mate her! Huh? Oh my! Capturing her may have been easy but conquering her and the other human females is much more difficult than Tarrick and his warriors could ever have imagined. Nope, never let it be said that Sgt Cat Moore would ever be easy and she certainly would never go down without a fight. The Letharians may have won a battle by capturing their human remote base and enslaved all its personnel but the war was just starting and she had just begun to fight. Granted, their captors were handsome, muscular and so, so sexy and the reality of being claimed by an alien warrior, correction, an alien warrior lord, was sexy but if she had anything to say about it, it would be short lived at best. And what better way to defeat her enemy than from the comfort of his bed. What?

Book Two: Saved by the Alien Lord

Before Cat can formulate a plan of escape for her and her fellow prisoners, a rival Letharian war clan leader, Commander Varish T'Laat, arrives to throw his hat in the ring and demands that the woman be turned over to him or he will destroy Tarrick's ship, the Velu'vias, and the four other ships in his invasion force. What the heck? But stealing the human women from Tarrick's ship may just be the biggest mistake Varish has ever made because the lovely, dainty females may not be as helpless as they appear. Cat realizes quickly that the enemy she knows is much better than the cruel Commander T'Laat. And Tarrick soon discovers that his little 'Moore Cat' is not only a warrior herself but also quite an intelligent little Hell-Cat! Let the battle begin!

Book Three: Bonded to the Alien Lord

The battle has been won and the women are now safely back on board the Velu'vias. Tarrick and his Lethar warriors are all stunned by the women's military strategy and fighting skills by securing their own freedom and helping to defeat Varish. But the biggest surprise of all is when Tarrick wakes up the morning after the battle with mating marks covering his wrists and body! Oh my! He's bonded with his little "Moore Cat". What? How is that even possible? And now Emperor Daaynal wants to meet and "examine" the human earth women. Oh yes! And why, you ask? Well, earth females just may be the saviors of the Lethar race! Huh? Oh my glory! Buckle up my lovelies cause here we go again!

The story is told from dual alternating points of view by the two primary characters and is also well written, fast paced, exciting, thrilling, riveting, action-packed, humorous, romantic, arousing, seductive and sensual. The characters are captivating, intriguing, engaging and sexy as sin. Yowza! Handsome, sexy, serious, alpha alien war commander who also happens to be a prince and finds himself hopelessly in lust and love with a small human female-check! Beautiful, saucy, sassy, intelligent and courageous human heroine who just may get violent if you threaten her groom or interrupt her wedding-check! A large, diverse cast of wonderful characters-check! Danger, action, adventure, malevolent alien purists, an unexpected confrontation, a hopeful earth alliance, a dash of humor and one heck of a crazy wedding-check! Heated attraction, fiery passion, seductive romance, an unexpected and surprising set of mating marks and a little old fashioned sex-you bet! Oh my! I can hardly wait to see who will get matched next! Deliciously cute, seriously sexy and delightfully entertaining! Fabulous entertainment and an awesome read!

I am gonna go all in here! 5 stars BOOM!

Terrific read. Plenty of action, great writing, funny as shit, and mouthwatering sexy! Not to mention a great plot, well-built universe and sassy characters. The women where not "damsel in distress" -types which is why I have added the last star.

Absolutely a great alien-romance series and I will for sure get the rest of the series!

Happy reading!

4.5 Stars

*Note: This contains all 3 novellas of Tarrick. The page count is incorrect on GR. It is about 232 pages long.

If you love 'Adult' steamy reads with strong female leads and have 'Not' read a Mina Carter book, you are missing out!

Cat and Tarrick are great MC's. Cat is smart, and snarky with a strong mind and personality. Tarrick is a hot, sexy Alien & proves he is intelligent as he adapts, along with Cat.

The heroine and the other human females show the Lathar's just how badass than can be! The tables turn in that the Lathars are amazed and captivated by the females. The Lathar men become a bit awkward around the women trying to impress them. Enormously funny!

I only found 2 typos towards the end of the story. Other than that, it is wonderfully written and fast paced.

A great read filled with humor and steam. The MC's are very likable and easy to connect to. Great world build. And supporting characters that add to the story and make you want 'MORE'!

There are areas that will make you laugh yourself silly, cheer the women on, and swoon with steamy heat!

Kelly says

When I first started this book, I wasn't sure if I'd like these Lathar with their rather antiquated ideas about women. I got where they were coming from since their women are all but extinct and they aren't used to the idea that females shouldn't be coddled and locked away, but...well, it took me a while to warm up to Tarrick and his man.

Given that the group they captured were soldiers, Tarrick and his crew were decidedly unprepared for them being willing to wade into the thick of battle and kick some alien backside when it was needed. And there were definitely times it was needed.

The women kicked butt, the aliens eventually figured out that these women weren't delicate flowers, and things worked out in the end. As they should.

Okay...so the first part of this story, the Captured by the Alien Lord part is pure smut with very little rebellion on the part of Cat Moore, the heroine, in the face of being Tarrick's sex slave. She starts lusting after him from the start but mentally knows that she should resist his making her a sex slave. Then he blackmails her - if she comes to him and accepts not having a choice, he'll give the rest of the prisoner women up to 3 choices of mates among his men. She does an internal fist pump because it means now she can give in to the insane lust and just fuck him. She even finds out she's drugged to increase her already present arousal and she's totally cool with it. I mean, objectively, the sex is hot, but when I'm thinking how she's all gung ho about having blackmail sex with the guy who made her a slave, it makes it decidedly less sexy.

In the second part, Saved by the Alien Lord, Cat has once again found her rebellious spirit and once again resists the idea of being a slave, and now she's upset about being drugged. She plots and plans for ways to get away with the other women. Along comes Varish T'Laat, another Lathar, who claims the women as his own. To protect her, Tarrick sends her down with the other women where they joke and shoot the shit about being slaves and choosing the juiciest guy. But simultaneously they sort of plot escape. Then the women are taken by Varish but the women demonstrate that they are stronger than the Lathar think and almost rescue themselves. But Tarrick of course has to go rescue Cat because she's being assaulted by the big baddy. The women realize how good they had it with Tarrick and his men, Cat's feelings about being a slave soften considerably. But more likely Cat's feelings towards Tarrick himself softened...though I'm not 100% sure why (not a lot of interaction between hateyou-loveyou). She was able to convince him to at least give most of the women some choice...3 x they get to say no before the married ones get to go home and the single ones have to stay and support the ones that choose to be mated. This middle part of the book was a bit better since Cat by this time is completely willing and not drugged. But I'm still not loving the fact that Tarrick still doesn't see anything wrong with raiding civilizations that are inferior to his own (like the Oonat) and the fact that Cat had to bargain for these concessions, rather than him realizing that they were right in the first place. I know, it's aliens and they're all about abduction, but I want my hero to be an all around decent guy who knows right from wrong, even if he does push boundaries here and there.

The final part, Bonded to the Alien Lord, has Tarrick realizing that he's bonded to his new human lover, and his brother Laarn, the healer, determines that humans and Lathar are genetically compatible, possibly even distantly related. Tarrick and Cat head off to his planet, meet the Emperor and get married, much to the chagrin of purists who don't believe Tarrick should be bonded to a mere human. The women stand their ground, show some guys who's boss and put down the little insurrection. This one is significantly better because the whole slavery thing is a non-issue at this point. Everybody who stayed is willing and even the Emperor himself outlaws the raiding of human settlements. Sadly, I still wonder and feel sad about the enslavement of these Oonat people who are apparently quite inferior and submissive. Makes me wonder if they've been consenting to being sex slaves and broodmares this whole time. From the book description, they're basically walking wombs. That kept popping into my head and ruining a bit of my enjoyment here. And probably because of that, when Tarrick and Cat started spouting their declarations of love, I didn't feel it. The attraction and chemistry is obvious, but the love-you-so-much-can't-live-without-you feelings I didn't pick up on. Maybe I disconnected at some point, maybe I just need to stop overthinking everything. You may find it completely natural.

I think I ruined my own reading experience here with my obsessive focus on all the slavery stuff earlier in the story. I may be weird, but my tastes in romance don't jive with modern day, liberated men or women actually accepting (or even coming to love) slave status...not really thrilled with lack of consent in any of its forms really. It has its place in historical romance and I can accept it to a certain degree in fantasy/sci-fi stories where characters are culturally different from humans. But when human beings, who KNOW better, become morally ambivalent about slavery and taking away a person's right to consent, I start to struggle. I can often still find some enjoyment in the story, but things just don't sit right in my brain when that happens. That was kind of the case here.

Edwina " I LoveBooks" "Deb" says

Tarrick and Latharian Warriors have captured a earth space station. Their race needs women that they can procreate with. Their female populations has died off. They find 4 Military women on the station and take them back to the planet Lathar. Tarrick has tracked his bond mate from hearing her voice through space. Once he has Sargent Cat Moore he mates her very quickly. They make a hot couple.

The short story is full of action and lots of erotic sex. All in all it was a pretty good story!!

A funny sexy alien romance that offers much in terms of humor and smexy times. A group of alien warriors invade an Earth space station, looking for compatible women and capture more than they bargained for. Each book focusses on one warrior and his mate while furthering an underlying long reaching arc. Quick fun reads.
