Clam I Am Tish Rabe

Norval the Fish is hosting a seaside talkshow for the Fish Channel—and the Cat in the Hat and Thing One and Thing Two are Cameracat and Crew! Among Norval's special guests are his old friend Clam-I-Am (a shy gal who lives in the sand and likes to spit), along with horseshoe and hermit crabs, jellyfish, sand fleas, starfish, seagulls, and miscellaneous mollusks. Seaweed, seaglass, tides, tidal pools, dunes, driftwood, and waves make cameo appearances, too. Warning: Beginning readers are apt to be swept away!

Love it

Angel Lederhause says

Very interesting and informative

Angela Foley says

This book was strange, I didn't know people could use Dr. Seuss books for their own writing.

Sean Harding says

Tish is back with another fine learning experience in this series of books from Dr Seuss and the Cat in the Hat learning library. The Title gives and indication if where we are going, so if you are pondering that it could be about a safari in Africa, my friend you would be incorrect! Anyway roll on Cat in your silly hat and learn us more!

This was way too long to actually read during preK story time, but I displayed it as an example of easy nonfiction that the kids could pick up. It is less of a picture book and more of an easy/beginner reader, but it was a good display because it showed parents that there are easy books available in our nonfiction section. I had two different kids want this book, and both families checked out a copy. One family came back today to find more in the Dr. Seuss Learning Library Series.

Fun and rhyming Read that has lots of info about the beach :)

Alex says

I enjoyed this book because I like clams. I also enjoyed this book because I like the beach.

DANNY says

I want to read it I think when I read the book it might be funny

This book was no good. Good it was not. It was not good with ice cream. It was not good with pot. It did not rhyme. So I had a bad time. It used Dr. Suess, but gave up the goose. I would not read this with a bear. I would not read this anywhere. BAD.

Rosa Cline says

This was a very nice Cat in the Hat book. The text is 90% in rhyme but learning rhyme. It's a science book without being 'in your face Science' book. My special needs teen age son enjoyed this book as I read it to him. It talks about various things in the sea and answers questions like what makes waves, why the sea appears blue, and why the water is salty etc. It was very nice.

Simone says

I liked this book because it had the cat in the hat in it.

Kristen Dutkiewicz says

I love sharing this book with Kindergarten because there are several interesting facts included. They all enjoy the rhyming as well.

Samantha Penrose says

We learned a few things about the creatures who call the beach home, but we were left with lots of questions. This would probably go over better with kids who have actually experienced a trip to the beach. Not nearly as good as "on beyond bugs" by the same author.

Laura McLoughlin says

The kindergartner picked this one out herself from her school library. She (and I) learned lots of good things about beach life. Someday we will have to go on a beach adventure!
