Brie Surrenders to His Will Red Phoenix

The 5th week of submissive training proves challenging as Brie surrenders her will. She enjoys the thrill of objectification and the excitement of completing erotic tasks. With the end of the course around the corner, the trainers encourage Brie to dig deep. Marquis presents her with a scene she ended in the past, Tono displays the art of suspension, and Faelan releases Brie's inner animal.

This bewitching novelette will wet your appetite for objectification, tease you with a little rope action, and have you panting for melted chocolate.

Extended Description:

The girls are quickly coming to the end of their submissive course, which means their trainers are becoming increasingly demanding. The pressure begins to tear at their friendship, but Brie is a determined little sub. She bravely faces Marquis' challenging scene, revels in the joy of suspension with Tono, receives vindication from Master Coen, and learns a thing or two about respect from Ms. Clark. Brie's attempt to bring her friends back together ends up getting them all in trouble, but the punishment draws Brie closer to the Dom who decreed it.

Lady Red, you've done it yet again! From the moment I started reading Brie Surrenders until I read the last words of the book, I was captivated. Your knack of taking each reader on Brie's journey was at its finest in this book. With each tantalizing chapter, we were once again reminded the hard decision that Brie has to make to choose her Master. Personally, I loved the review that Brie received from Captain after her day with him... so sweet! Brie's lessons in objectification were exciting and provocative. Brie's experiences with Tono and Faelan were top-notch and so intoxicating(I love chocolate more than I used to)! I was excited when the girls' finally had some girl time. The excitement is building for the release of Brie's final week of training and the reveal of her choice for Master. The wild roller coaster ride that we have been on for 5 weeks of her training will be culminated in Brie Bows to Her Master. The ultimate question now is, who will she choose: Sir, Tono, Marquis or Faelan?

It took me a while to get interested in this series but finally I am hooked - with only one left to go - nooo! I am looking forward to seeing who she chooses to offer her collar to. Personally I am a Sir fan. Although I understand why so many people find him boring and their heat lacking, I must say that there is a quiet intensity between the two of them that is appealing - and one must remember that Sir is in a position where he cannot really show any passion/emotion/reaction toward Brie due his earlier indiscretion with her as it could result in her expulsion or his resignation.

I like that she has created so much dissension among the trainers.

I wouldn't be terribly upset if she choose Tono or Marquis. But I must say I really hope Faelan is not even considered. His arrogance and aggression grate me. I am really surprised at how his character developed - I assumed he would be some sort of aggressor that would add a dangerous twist to the story making the others more protective of her - instead he turns out to be training at the centre to become a Dom. I didn't really like that part of the series so far.

I do have a small fear that she will have to end up with either Faelan or Tono due to something Mary said. When discussing who she may offer her collar to she said "i would love that man [Marquis] to collar me if it was allowed". Does that mean trainers are off limits? or perhaps he is already taken? But if they aren't permitted to approach the trainers that would mean she could have neither Sir or Marquis.

I am beginning to love this series. The only point that irks me slightly is that there is a distinct difference between a submissive and a slave but the lines are very blurred in this series - at times it seems it is leaning very much more towards slave. That being said, Red does create a captivating character in Brie and the subtle differences between all the Doms and their specialties is interesting.

Brie's training is almost finished. She has only one week left. And at the end of that week she'll have to make a decision about who would she like as her future Dom, in case she makes that decision at all. Brie is rather confused about that. Quite honestly, I'm a bit anxious myself. I'm very curious about what will happen between Brie and Sir in the end, but that's in the last part, so I'll put that topic to rest.

This week Brie learned how to surrender herself completely to her Dom's will, to be used for his pleasure and his pleasure alone. She even got to play the part of an inanimate object. She got to play out some scenes with two of her favorite Doms. At the end of the week she had an interesting encounter with Ms. Clark. Oh, let's not forget the dream. Great dream. And once again Brie was led to test her limits and do the things she thought she couldn't do.

Yes, the week was full of valuable and enjoyable lessons, but the most important thing was that the friendship between Brie and her classmates became stronger, and that she was headed for a better future.

All in all, this was another lovely, well-written story about Brie. She's become a very dear character to me.

Awsome! I can't get enough...!!! The story is intriguing, unique, hot but the top of all is the author's writing which makes everything so alive!!!

The Reviewer says

Ms. Clark is a bitch I hate her hate her hate her!!!! That being said, I feel just as Brie torn between so many males to chose... Tono, Sir, Faelan and Marquis Gray... oooo Master Gray!! I don't know why but I have the feeling that even with all the experiences she's having with all of them, she is still going to chose Sir and he is practically out of the picture because he hasn't been interacting with her at all.

★★★★★Brie Surrenders to His Will by Red Phoenix (Brie #8)

This is an BDSM erotica short coming in around 60 pages.

Week 5 The last week as a group

I wasn't crazy about where this one started, since it followed suit with book 7. But that quickly changed. And now it is among my top books in the series, thus far.

The girls are assigned trainers for the night and must follow their orders to the T. Hot and so much fun. Everyone should try this at least once in their life.

Tono is back, and is as good as gold. They are so good together. But he's mine, so back off Brie. Everything about his scene is HOT, then add dual suspension, DAMN!

Blue eyes is back again. He is playing for keeps this time. You can't go wrong with chocolate. MMMMMM, if it was so strong, you have no explanation for the bruises, put it on lock and key. Lol.

Oh, Brie, where will this last week take you? Will you give your collar away? Or will you grow before you settle?

Stephanie says

Have thoroughly enjoyed every book in the series, and I cant wait for book 9 in mid October.

Nikki "The Crazie Betty" V. says

Waiting for each of these volumes to come out is like pure torture! I absolutely love this story. Brie has a whole bunch of new experiences this time around but with some familiar faces. Faelen, Coen, Tono, and even Ms. Clark subject Brie to some very different experiences but they aren't easy and not always pleasant. Ms. Clark teaches Brie some very valuable lessons and even throws a half compliment her way. It's apparent that although Ms. Clark loathes Brie she can see her potential and is going to do her duty as a trainer and help her realize it. She also gets to release her inner animal with Faelen and fly with Tono.

As heartbroken as I am to see this series come to an end, I am completely beside myself with excitement to see who Brie chooses as her Dom, if she chooses anyone at all. I really thought I had a favorite that I was hoping would pull ahead but the more this story goes on the more I find myself drawn to the many different Doms, just like Brie. I will say though, that I'm still not feeling Sir. I hope she ends up with someone that has a little more character depth since we really haven't even seen any character development with Sir I kind of feel like he is a flat character and not really worthy of Brie. Faelen, Tono, and Marquis are neck and neck by my standards and I can't decide who I would like her to end up with. On a completely side note: Wouldn't it be the craziest thing ever if she ended up with Ms. Clark?!!! I know that seems completely ludicrous but really it would be very interesting considering we haven't seen Brie experience much of the same sex D/s relationship.

Anxiously awaiting (and at the same time dreading) the conclusion of Brie's time at the Submissive Training Center.

DISCLAIMER: Do not read if you take issue with household items being used in sex play, self pleasure in a public restroom, sex with food involved, objectification, bondage themes, stockade punishment.

The first half of the book seemed bad in my opinion. The way the girls were treated as simple objects was not enjoyable at all and i couldn't understand how the Brie, Mary and Lea not only tolerated that treatment but also get satisfaction from it. I know that the girls are submissives but i feel that the dominants should always respect them and consider their feeling.

I also couldn't see the point of Brie getting humiliated from Marquis Grey by transforming her into a pony nor do i see the sensual side of this action.

What save the book though was the awesome Tono, my favorite character and the Dominant i support and his skills in Kinbaku when he made Brie fly. I liked very much Brie's partner from the auction for this week.

Who could have thought that someone could make dancing more interesting than usual.

On Tuesday, I was obsessed. I refreshed and refreshed every few minutes in the hopes that Amazon would get its act together and just POST THE EFFING BOOK ALREADY! I downloaded it right as work ended at 5. I, then, sat in my parking lot at work started the book and finished sitting outside of my house; didn't get out nor did I turn off my car. This is how much I love Red! Okay, I just had to get that out. Now onto the review...

So, book 7 was a bit of an enigma to me. I loved it. Yes, I did but, I think book 7 fell into that trap that all multiple books series' have. It's the book that makes you go "hmm". It's that book that leads up to the end of the series. It's that book that lets the reader know that something is about to happen, and it's going to be big. If book 7 was that book, Red's latest installment into the adventures of Brie was the KAPOW...THE WHOOPAH...the PLOP, PLOP, FIZZ, FIZZ! Brie is bubbling up the surface and I'm right there with her!

Brie is so confused. We see her trying to work through that confusion while still fully committed to her passion and education as a sub. I'm on the train with her feeling every emotion Red throws at us. And Faelan! Can we talk about him for a second? He has definitely presented himself as a contender. I mean the chocolate milk?! I don't like chocolate milk but I would if I got it like that. It's clear they have a connection. I can't wait to see where this goes. Of course, my lovely Tono made an appearance as well. I mean, he jumped on top of her while she was suspended in the air. HOLY SHIT! And then their conversation afterwards was sweet and endearing. You can definitely see he feels the same way she feels about him. Of course, in the forefront of her mind, as always, is Sir. Sir and I do not get along. Since book 2, think it's the idea of Sir that has her all week in the knees. He annoys me. That's all I have to say about that.

I cannot wait until book 9! I'm slightly sad that Brie's adventure and education is ending, I am waiting with baited breath to finally see who she will choose and I do think she will choose someone. Prediction: It will be Faelan...or Tono! I can't wait wait wait for the sex that will happen after she chooses! I'm getting all squirmy just thinking about it!

Jen says

I am starting to feel sad that Brie's training is almost over!! Then lo and behold, Red leaves a wonderful note at the end of the book that states: "We don't have to worry, she will be giving us a story of life after Brie's training!!!" Woohoo!! Thanks Red for making my day!! I needed that!LOL

Now for my review!!! Of course, I adored this book, and this time the sex in this book was blazing hot between Brie and the Dom who chose her at the auction! I mean, it was scorching hot between these two! Raw, primal, and rough!!! I didn't think the books could get any better but I sure was wrong! This is my favorite thing about the series too, is that it gradually gets better and each book has a different "theme" so it is not just the same old stuff. Also, it is nice to watch the friendship develop between Brie and the two other girls in the training center. When their training first started, I really didn't like Mary, but her character has developed into someone that I actually really do feel empathy for. Her outside tough shell seems to just be a way she protects herself. I love that Brie is able to get through to Mary without coddling her but being just as catty back! I just love the dynamics between the three friends and I always look forward to their little get togethers at the end of the auction nights.

I am eager for the next installment to see if and whom Brie is going to collar as her Dom. I'm thinking it may not be Sir, but time will tell! Thank you Red for not making us wait too long. October is long enough but I am grateful it's not next year!

I am so glad that I have followed Brie's journey into submission and I am equally glad that we may get more of Brie in the future..

Kelly says

This was without a doubt the best Brie yet. Five stars isn't near enough. I think Faelen, the sexy Dom in training, may be my favorite now, a close second to Tono. I enjoyed everything about this one. Brie's interactions with the other subs in training was a lot of fun. They've really bonded during their time together. Can't wait until the next one!

Another good read.
Few typos.

Oh how I'm saddened to think there is only one more in the series. I am not sure now that Brie and her Sir will be an item. Her suspension with Tono is sublime, but then so are most of the scenes that Red Phoenix has written, so erotic that self combustion can occur...you have been warned. So jump to it. Don't expect it to resemble real life but maybe your deepest sexual fantasies. In this Red has tried to give Mistress Clark more of a personality, maybe a hidden heart, doesn't work for me though, still dislike her. I had horrifying thoughts that she would end with Brie, hope that doesn't happen, it would sour the whole experience. I adore Maquis Gray, Mr Anderson, Tono and others, who will she end with, I have a sneaky feeling it could be he who meets and greets, the newbie Dom. Book 9 will tel me. I have also bought the compilation as this is one I will definitely have a second read of.

Love it 5 stars.
