I am enjoying Annslee's work. This book is well written full of action, and fast paced. I like her characters and the way she weaves her faith into the story like a tapestry. I know you will love this book.

Mary does it again with another suspenseful read! Keeps you guessing and turning the pages to find out who the suspect is among many interesting character plot lines. Once again she weaves the element of faith at work in her character's lives as a reminder that God is present even in the darkest situations encountered. A must read!! I promise you wont put it down until you've finished it!

Thoroughly enjoyed this suspense! I was so caught up in the story line, I had to turn all the lights in the house on as the sky darkened outside!

Truly loved the characters, and I was never able to figure out just "who done it"until it was revealed at the very end!!

Can't wait to read more from Annslee Urban!

An enjoyable mystery set in Boone, NC. When Paige decides to try one last time to find evidence of her brother's innocence before his murder trial, she returns to Boone to do some digging. She has no time to do any before the first attempt is made on her life, and from there on out there's plenty of danger. There are several people I suspected of the crimes, and it's spun out well so that none of them have exact proof until the final showdown.

Funny gripe: the Jeep on the cover is a Wrangler, and she was driving a Renegade.

Real gripe: Paige was in a serious, talking-marriage relationship with an unbeliever, and that person's faith was never resolved. I don't like seeing marriage to a nonbeliever condoned in Christian fiction.

A great romance/suspense story. It keeps you guessing right up to the end, who the killer is.
