Glacier Violet Blaze

His real name might be Saint, but he's a monster.

His heart—if he even has one—is coated in ice. Dark. Like the blood under his fingernails.

Saint “Glacier” Nordin is the enforcer for the Alpha Wolves Motorcycle Club and sin for sin, he's an outlaw among outlaws.

But even monsters want to be accepted and there's a place in the club for someone like him, a man that paints with blood instead of oils.

Glacier, he's the stuff nightmares are made of.
But I love him.

Even if he's thirty and I'm only seventeen, even if the looks he gives me are cold hell.
I want all of him: his body, his heart ... and his monster.

*GLACIER is a stand-alone MC romance by bestselling author C.M. Stunich writing as Violet Blaze, with a sexy tattooed badass, a strong and capable heroine, and a dark but riveting love story. This book is a spin-off of the completed "Bad Boys MC Trilogy" starting with "Raw and Dirty" but can be read entirely on its own.*

From Reader Review Glacier for online ebook

Abbey's Fully Booked says

Was my first voluntary M/F book this year, and I really enjoyed it.
The dark, nitty gritty of it was fun to read and was definitely what I needed to read at the time.
Good story line, true to the MC feel.

I loved this book so much .

I loved this book so much and this author is fast becoming my fave .
Glacier is a complicated man ,whose dark ,broody and as cold as ice . He looks like a model but gives off a dangerous vibe and I adored him . His relationship with Serenity is just as complicated and complexed as it's forbidden in many ways .
This is the perfect mc biker book and I can't wait for Smoky book.

Deborah says

After reading a couple of really positive reviews on this book I decided to give it a try, without those reviews
I'm not sure I would have continued on beyond the first few pages but I'm really glad I did.

My problem?

Purely that seventeen year old Serenity making all the moves and seducing thirty year old Saint (Glacier) now it definitely wasn't the age difference quite the opposite in fact it's just that I like a strong alpha male, I prefer a man who knows what he wants and goes after it but it soon became apparent that Saint would never, regardless of his want and needs make any moves on Serenity. While he wants her like he's never wanted anything else in his life he doesn't feel he deserves her and since he has amazing self control he'd never make the first move.

Once I'd realised this and settled in I found this addictive reading.

Glacier is a monster, he's the enforcer for the Alpha Wolves Motorcycle Club and does what no other member can or wants to do, he tortures and kills and even his brothers fear him.

“He's dangerous, Serenity. Cold. There's something seriously wrong with him.”

He's a tortured soul, everyone sees him as a psychopath everyone except Serenity she manages to see the man beneath the mask and she wants him and only him.

Glacier is a fascinating character and he reminded me a little of Shade (The Last Riders) at times.

Serenity makes him feel, her touch calms him, with her he finally feels human.

Glacier hasn't had sex in six years and before that it was only twice, it did nothing for him so he didn't see the point but this all changes with Serenity.

This book isn't without its faults (more on these at the end) but Glacier is beautiful and anyone who loves like he loves Serenity can't be all bad.

"You read?"

"I've been searching for a long time," he says,

"Searching?"

"For something that makes me ... feel the way violence does, like I'm actually alive inside."

"And in all these books, did you ever find anything?"

"The only thing I've ever found," he starts, breathing out, "is you."

Like I said beautiful.

Their relationship isn't going to be easy since Serenity is under age (took me a while to get my head round that since the age of consent over here in the UK is sixteen) and her father is the club treasurer, add to that the age difference and the fact that Glacier taught her to ride and it's not looking good.

Serenity wants to be a romance writer and since I require a HEA I loved this line:

"Or maybe not? Maybe the world has enough tragedy in it? What right do I have to introduce a story without a happy ending?"

My thoughts exactly.

There's a lot here to like, I fell in love with Glacier and the story held me.

So what didn't I like?

While I liked Serenity's spirit and the fact that she didn't have a single TSTL moment. For me, at times she was just too much, I know she needs to appear strong and won't be bullied but the school bit was too much. Glacier. While I grew to love him at first he spent too much time telling me he was a monster, how bad he was, how everyone feared him and while this is all true i didn't need to be told so many times.

It wasn't until I'd started reading and felt I'd missed something mainly Royal and Lyric's story that I checked and discovered I had the Bad Boys MC Trilogy marked as to-read. I wish I'd read that first and I fully intend to do so at some point but it's not necessary in order to enjoy this, it is as it states a standalone.

It was okay. I was into the beginning but about halfway through, it turned to meh and I wasn't able to get back to the interest I had.

Serenity would have been a great h if I didn't have to watch her interact with her friends. I know that's so strange, because her high school parts didn't bother me. She's 17 after all, but it was the moments when she was with her friends that I felt her age. But more than that, I felt bored. It was like filler until she was with Saint again. And some of the parts just seem OTT to me (view spoiler) and I skimmed past them mostly. Because I loved how she wasn't the club. She wanted individuality, even though she loved someone in the club. She wanted freedom and didn't back down, even against her parents.

Glacier...he wasn't scary. I think part of it was I was constantly told he was the scary bad guy who had no soul and all his brothers were afraid of him. In truth, I needed to see it more than be told it. Because other than a few scenes where he's actually doing his job, it was just what he was thinking or telling Serenity or she was thinking. Plus, his brothers just seemed like dicks to me. Did any of the other guys in the club kill people or was it just Glacier's job? (view spoiler) And I didn't find him "cold" so much as maniac. Maybe that would have been better. He's not a cold killer, he's a sociopath. That would have been a better descriptor - of course with proof not just words.

The side characters...I didn't care for Serenity's friends. The principal or whatever she was was completely useless. And in a lot of ways, I'm surprised by her hatred for Serenity when the club could look at that negatively. Not to mention the bullying program in that school was horrendous. I liked Royal and loved Lyric. Jack was a dick - no redemption and Fauna...I didn't understand her. At all. I get she's an old lady, but this was her daughter. She treated her daughter like shit because she wasn't paying attention and Serenity found someone who did.

The age thing didn't bother me. Well, when they weren't constantly mentioning it. Though I don't know why he had to be 13 years older. Could have been early twenties and the story wouldn't have changed much. Even still. Some places age of consent is good, so I didn't really see it as that big of a taboo. Besides, she wasn't 15 when they started anything.

The ending seemed rushed and unfinished. No jump into the future. No plans. So they're together (view spoiler) and that's it. It would have been nice to see something more. But oh well.

I liked the cover a lot so there's that.

[I really enjoyed this. The hero wasn't misogynistic like the majority of MC biker heroes. There was so much that I found to be interesting in this book, and the main characters' relationship was pretty well balanced with everything else going on with the plot. The forbidden aspect of the relationship along with the slightly disturbing aspect of the hero was exciting, but I felt that the age gap was a little too big. There were a few points where I felt this was going to be a huge

2.5 SPOILERS

This book was okay for me. I didn't really care for the Hero or heroine and how they disrespected the club without really being remorseful.

Hero hates remotely anything to do with sex or self pleasure (he has had sex 2 times) which normally doesn't bother me but the mentioning of how he wouldn't care who heroine was, he doesn't care that she has breasts. Sometimes I got the vibe he could be with either man or woman. Him not having sex just for sex was a change but his thoughts came off as very a sexual and repetitive. Thankfully, he does enjoy sex with heroine and craves it.

While I completely agree that men and women should be treated equally both Hero and heroine seem to dislike the club and the way it is.. this is suppose to be an MC romance and while there was some MC action I dont really like to hear about a club member not liking his MC or its members.

The heroine (while young) not liking the idea of marriage saying "its a tired institution.. or comments like .." I've only ever seen marriage used as some sort of chain to hold a woman down" or even not liking be called old lady bothered me. Yes, marriage is not for everyone but is beautiful if with the right person! I personally like it when I read a MC romance that the heroine is happy about being an old lady. Its not that heroine didnt love Hero because she does she just doesn't want to participate in the MC world it seems. Mentioning not wanting to be controlled or wanting to control was mentioned many many times to the point it got annoying.

The hero is very possessive of the heroine and will do anything for her but in being possessive I found him disrespectful of the club and its members.

"..they can argue and vote all they want, but it doesn't matter. I don't care what they say. I am this club. Without me, who will do their fucking dirty work?" - quote from Hero.

He gets the okay to be with the heroine after basically threatening them and saying she knows too much and if you don't approve she could rat. It just didn't work for me.

The writing and flow of the book is great but I like my MC romances to be respectful and mindful of MC life - I dont think I got that from this book.

4.5 stars

I loved, loved, loveeed this!! It was very much an impulse read after seeing a single review for it and i don't regret a thing.

This is the story of Saint and Serenity; one, the 30-year old enforcer of an MC, and the other, the 17 year old daughter of one of his fellow officers in the MC. This is pretty much a forbidden love; one, because of their ages, and second, because her father hates him with a passion. The age difference never bothered me; mainly because Serenity was very mature and logical, much more so than a great percentage of other heroines I've read about that were over 25; in fact, I'd say she was the more mature of the two, because Saint had little to no emotional maturity (aka close to no emotions).

This is more of a character-driven book. It's longer than average, but never boring, imo. The hero goes directly in my favourite heroes shelf, and Serenity is the definitely getting a spot in my bad-ass heroines list.

What I loved so much about this book (apart from the hero, he was something that I've been waiting to read for a looong time now, and every time I read a similar hero - no emotions, anti-social personality disorder - I've been left massively disappointed), is the fact that the heroine was strong, a feminist who fights for her rights in an extremely misogynistic environment. She starts off saying she doesn't want to be a part of the MC life, and even though she does end up in the MC, she does it on her terms, only because she's with the hero. And I have no doubt whatsoever that if she were to be treated badly by the other MC members, or she didn't want to be a part of it anymore, the hero would leave it behind without looking back.

That brings me to my second reason for loving this book so much: the hero. He was very cold and emotionless, scary, his body covered in tattoos (except for his face), and he didn't like anything, not even masturbating or sex. He was asexual, celibate for 6 years before their relationship started and had only tried sex on 2 occasions with 2 different women, to see if he could like it (he didn't).

The heroine had been in love with him since she was 15; at 17, the night her mother is shot, she kind of throws herself at him and she loses her virginity. In the beginning, she is the one that keeps pushing him for something; once he finally accepts it, though, he's ruthless. She is the only person he likes, and later, loves, the only person he feels something for, the only person who he enjoys sex with, and by the middle of the book, you feel like she truly is his everything. He teaches her to ride his bike, he gives her a bike and lets her ride with him (big no-no in their community) and he would do anything to make her happy and comfortable; he even tells her that she is basically the master of his actions - whatever she wants, he will do for her.

“Her gender is particularly irrelevant to me. I just...want her. She’s my one thing, my only thing. My reason for being alive. I’ve finally found my purpose”

“As if I’d actually want to dominate and subdue the woman I love. She’s her own person; she holds the leash to my monster. Nothing could make me happier”

“I would kill God to protect her”

“Mm. Fuck. My gray matter, it’s fucking infected with thoughts of that girl”

My only complaints and the reason why I’m leaning more towards 4.5 stars, is the excessive mentioning of certain things; for example, the tattoos on his fingers, his “inner monster” or how giving a woman a bike is the most amazing thing, like EVER. I got it the first time, but the author kept telling me and telling me. Another thing I didn’t like is a scene in the beginning - I’ll explain in the spoiler.

Safety: (view spoiler)

My cheeks hurts from all the smiling??

And now that’s my fav MC romance! god I love saint aka glacier. to describe glacier- hot, dangerous, alpha, strong, mysterious, hands are cold and heart is gold, sexy tattooed & pierced bad boy, funny, loving, caring, protective, possessive, don’t fuck around not a manwhore and respect women. Swoon worthy book boyfriend material!!!

Serenity aka ren young, beautiful, strong, rules breaker, loving, caring, protective and possessive. Not the usual Mc romance heroine hero but I loved them so much.

Normally I keep track of my running thoughts as I read and then I put them down as part of the review. Let me go ahead and give you them now:

Jesus. CM never pu**y foots around.

Ohhh, so hot.

That's it. And then i stopped thinking because I was SO sucked into this book. CM has never let me down in her books and this was no exception.

Claudia says

Oh, Glacier and Serenity - thank the Devil you two got each other, because everyone else is an asshole. That's how I feel about the whole book.

I've read many books where the main characters have a pretty big age difference, and every single time I love it, because it's a big fuck you to the judgy society.

Now, the story is about Glacier, who is an MC enforcer and Serenity, who is a club member's daughter. He is 30, she is 17. He is a blood thirsty man, who doesn't have a problem getting violent and she is a MC kid, who has seen and heard it all.

When I was reading the book I realized that people around them are plain and simple assholes.

Glacier is enforcer for the MC for more than 10 years and not one of his "brothers" knows his story. They stay away from him, call him a monster, a psychopath, some of them straight up despise him, and yet they use him. I makes me so freaking mad, when I hear or see this kind of shit. When people tolerate you as long as they can use you, but they don't really give a fuck about you. Those are people that are around you every day. And in the book they're suppose to be your brothers, the ones that got your back. But honestly, I think that most of them would gladly put a bullet in his back if they knew they could get away with it and it they had a replacement for him.

"That life, the one where you're nothing but somebody else's tool...That life of being a pet or a piece of property, it isn't a life I'd wish on someone like you, Serenity."

I don't know if the Alpha Wolves as a whole are aware of it, but they rely on Saint Nordin for pretty much everything requiring blood, death, chase, capture, torture or information. Saint's like a Swiss fucking army knife for the club or something, a multi-tool.

So, yeah, I hated the other members (except Royal).

And then you've got Serenity. A 17 years old MC kid.

A girl who is basically a shadow. An invisible girl. She's there, working in her mom's caffe, but nobody actually sees her. She has seen and heard everything that's going on in any particular time and they don't even seem to realize it. The exposure to sex, drugs, parties, violence and club secrets.

I honest to God hate her parents. Her dad (Jack) is a treasurer for the MC and her mom (Fauna) was a club groupie before she married her dad and now owns a caffe bar on the MC property. And both of them aren't worth shit.

When Serenity was bullied in school and than defended herself they blamed it on her, hadn't really paid attention to what is going on, got mad when she got suspended (like maybe she should let the others beat her up or something).

When they found out about her relationship with Glacier Fauna's reaction was:

"How could you? Disrespect your father like this, make him look like a fool in front of the entire club?"

Mmm, bitch get your fucking priorities straight. I think that an ego of a 50+year old man can take a back seat to your daughter's first serious relationship (with a man who is also a MC member and also a lot older). How about if you just asked her how she's doing? What she's feeling? Be a fucking support for her, when a whole club starts throwing verbal and physical punches. LISTEN TO HER! Be a fucking mother or more importantly be a woman, who helps another woman instead of calling her a whore.

It's astonishing to me how both of her parents got offended, shocked and straight up ballistic, but for all the selfish and wrong reasons. It was all about them. About how it would make them look in front of the MC. About how she could even do something like that?

Hmm, it's not like she is some poor innocent girl from a rich family, who ended up on a wrong side of tracks or something.

Her father...uf...a real piece of work.

"She is my fucking daughter! I decide what she does. Until she's eighteen, she's as much my property as my goddamn motorcycle."

And his reaction after the whole relationship revelation:

"Serenity, as far as I'm concerned," Jack says, turning to look at me with absolutely zero emotions on his face, "you're not my daughter anymore. You are my brother's old lady and that's that. I will afford you the respect due an officer's wife and nothing more. Head upstairs and pack your room up."

Well, fuck you both very much. That would be my response and the end of parent-daughter relationship. You selfish pricks.

One of the problems in this book was the age difference and also legal consequences (statutory rape). In our country the legal age to have sex is 15, so I never once thought that she isn't an adult when it comes to sex (that's my personal perspective since I'm accustomed to our rules).

When it comes to their relationship it shows how (again!) nobody knows Serenity and how adult she is for her age. Lyric saw that after knowing her for a few months!

So yeah, the whole 'pedophile' nicknames that were thrown around towards Glacier pissed me off.

But oh, how I loved them together. How she was a a strong young woman who knows she loves her man and stands by him no matter what. Who isn't afraid to see his true colors. Who gives him what he needs, when no one ever bothered to try. She actually sees him, listens to him, spends time with him, talks to him, gives him human touch and connection - something that none of the people surrounding him ever did.

"Do you know why I fell for her? Because she had the same look in her eyes," I point two fingers at my face, "like somebody that was cast off, written off, forgotten. A tool, an extra, an aside."

Because sometimes that's all that it takes. A nice word. A smile. A look. And you recognize someone who just might understand.

All in all, I loved this book. I've read the Bad Boys Trilogy (Royal's and Lyric's story) and I can say that this one is really a cherry on top of that books. Uuuu, and the book's playlist kicks ass.

Claire says

This review originally appeared on BrizzleLass Books.

The first thing I did after finishing the Bad Boys MC Trilogy was to buy Glacier, a spin off set within the same MC. What can I say I'm addicted! Glacier is the clubs enforcer, cold, calculating and taking pleasure from torturing people. When he appeared in the trilogy I loved him, his way of being able to scare everybody, even those who were supposed to be his friends was appealing and very attractive.

I would quite like a Glacier of my own actually, the more I learned about him in this book the more attractive he became, as we learned about his life it became clear how he became the person the club sees. But beneath that is a beautiful man and Serenity is the only person who sees that, and from a distance before he starts to open up. And do I have to mention the cover? Oooh that cover!

The problem, because there has to be a problem right? She is 17, he is 30. Now as an English reader that's not such a big deal, an age gap yes, but certainly not illegal for us (age of consent 16). I knew plenty of girls (and guys), myself included, who dated people in their 30's while they were in their teens. Some are still married to those people. But as I had to keep reminding myself this book is set in the States where age of consent is 18 so this is a much bigger deal there.

I love that Serenity is the one with the strength in this relationship. She pursues the Glacier, she fights for them, she has the emotional strength and looks out for them. She is an exceptionally strong young lady, and her age isn't a question as far as she is concerned. She is in love and she isn't going to let something like an age difference get in the way. I admire that quality and I admire that she had the strength to fight for what she wanted whatever sacrifices it required. She was a girl after my own heart.

Saying that there are times where she just needs to be loved and looked after, to be supported and Glacier does all these things and more for her, they discover how to be a unit, how to love each other and what it means to be in love together. There may be a large age gap but emotionally they are on a level and fit so perfectly together.

Glacier learns to fight for what he wants and to open his heart, something he has never done. His soul is damaged but Serenity naturally seems to know how to help him heal and feel better. She supports him, loves him and he does the same. They really are a perfect match. But battling the club, her parents, the law is a huge strain and one they have to navigate and decide if they are able to stay together.

I also loved how the background story from the trilogy was continued, although this can be read as a standalone it could also be part four of that series very easily.

This book took me through my paces, but I adored the characters, shed more than a few tears and felt so much love. I read it one sitting which given the page count is quite an accomplishment.

DNF. I picked this book back up several times but I just couldn't get into it. I think it was because the girl was so young and still in high school and seemed even younger than that. Seems like everyone else liked it so its just me

Tina J says

This is the best book I've read so far from this author IMO. They got it on so quickly though that I was convinced that he would have to go to Alaska so we would have enough plot for the other 75% of the book but the story moved on at a fair pace and it was all over before I realised it. I was so into the story - Rens crappy parents, the bitch at school and the Club drama. I wish there was a bit more of that. Loads of sex scenes are great and if you read a book by this author you know there's going to be plenty but I would of been happy with a few less hot scenes and a bit more drama.

Erin says

Oh man. Glacier. Wow. What a fucked up H that I completely fell in love with.

MC romance. Interesting plot.

I liked the heroine, but I could have done without her being in high school. I just hate high school and the drama that comes with it. This is why this read is a 4 star and not a 5. STORNG heroine, though.

13 year age difference. Loved it. No "daddy" kink.

Glacier is NOT a manwhore. He only had sex TWICE before he was with the heroine, and he DIDNT LIKE IT. And he's 30. Really, the way the author portrays him he was asexual before Serenity.

Angelique says

how is it possible for a book with a nice blurb.
to turn out, too be so boring.!

There is too much telling and not enough showing.
She claims constant that She and she alone was not scared off him. Well she and the rest of the reading world.
He was not a monster, don't care how often and it was often.
Violet tried to sell him as one. by telling this every other page.

Serenity, is a typical 17 year old, who thinks that only her way is the right way. She shows little to no empathy for others than her and her friends. I find it hard to believe that she cares for Saint other than, the chase and the catch.
The other brothers were insignificant, the parents also lousy.
need I go on

there was little to no real angst, drama or a real H.E.A.
pages are filled with the same over and over again.
how many times need too be told that her mom got shot.
That night, She found it more important to get laid.
Than to know how her mom was.
