Kevin Richards says

Survivors push forward

Great background stories and character development as Betty tries to recreate normalcy by taking up writing in her diary again.

Samah Rifla says

Omg omg omg!!!! i didn't think id care about a minor character but whats the story of Cheryl and her "brother"? are they having an incest affair? is she ever his sister? and the name she gave at the end, who is it?

Also, small reminder, Veronica is a bitch. Thank you for coming to my ted talk

Sarah says

It's frustrating to keep waiting for each issue. The Thanksgiving one was released a week before Christmas. Will the Christmas edition be released just in time for Valentine's Day?

Kayla (onthefritz) says

Loved the Dear Diary format from Betty's point of view. Tons of subtle creepy vibes surrounding Polly and the whole Cheryl/Jason thing.

Sean O'Hara says

Must eat Veronica's brain

Now that the story's moved out of Riverdale, things are a lot more interesting. The focus is off the zombies this time and on how things are affecting the gang. I particularly like the flashbacks with Betty trying not to face her current reality. She's really starting to feel like a Stephen King character, especially with the dark revelations about her sister.

Jessica-👉Chatterbooks Book Blog👈 says

Yes! Back to the zombies! ? The Cheryl/Jason plot is crazy but interesting. I'm beginning to see a lot of influence for the show Riverdale in this series. I can't wait to see where this will all end up.

James says

Very real and gritty version of Archie even with the zombies running around.

[Shai] Bibliophage says

I'm really intrigued on what set Cheryl to kill his brother Jason and what does she mean that her name is no longer Cheryl but it's Blaze. Also, the part where the twins are in the woods and Cheryl mentioned her puppy Sugar when they were young; Jason said that the puppy died because of choking on her own leash. But base from the silhouette in that comic strip, it looks like Jason killed Sugar and maybe Cheryl was even thinking that it's her twin brother who did it.

I'm eager to know why Jason was liked that to her twin and what set Cheryl to murder him. Hopefully it would be revealed sooner in the succeeding comics in this series.

Michelle says

So Betty is being a teen and writing her emotions on paper. We dive into her life with sis Polly, death and loss from Jughead's reign, and her secret time with Archie. Princess veronica is being all jelly. meanwhile folks are dreaming of Sabrina's honeymoon I think. Weird. On top of it all, the Blossom siblings got a Flowers in the Attic relationship minus Cheryl liking it.

Jon says

One of the least violent issues, but also my favorite one yet. I loved that it was from Betty's perspective and the style the author utilized brought me right into the story through her character. I liked the idea of her recreating a lost journal and delving into past events while the present unfolds.

Janina says

Archie and the gang are on the move and we get Betty's backstory with her sister Polly who I never knew she even had! Archie and Betty have grown closer much to Veronica's chagrin. And a brother and sister have a very Flowers in the Attic type relationship until the sister decides to off her brother completely.

Susan says

What's up with the Blossoms? They could not be weirder. Well, they likely can although I think puppy killer

Jason got what he deserved. This is one Thanksgiving I'll take a pass on.

Patrícia says

That Jason-Cheryl-vibe is creepier than the zombi plot ?

Serena says

YESSSS. Number 7 returns back to the gang as they are on the run trying to get away from the zombies. Betty is writing in her journal and thinking of her sister unsure of if she's alive or dead and we're shown glimpses of the past and how she met Archie and Veronica. We're also shown a small glimpse of Cheryl and her brothers life before the outbreak and it's very....incesty.

Binibining `E (of The Ugly Writers) says

Veronica why are you such a b*itch??
