Given To Me For An Honest Review

Christian Boustead's book The Voice of Nature isn't a must read it's a HAVE to read especially if you enjoy poetry about the natural world. Included are sixty nine poems that are all so very good. I kept trying to pick my most favorite and couldn't do so because I found another one I liked. I love all of the poems inside this book but I most especially enjoyed: Butterfly, Cloud Colours, Fleeting and The God's Breath. Christian has done a job in writing his poems. Each one you read will give you something to stop and think about. I enjoyed reading it very much and this will be a book I know I will read and re-read again and again. I gave this book 5 stars but it really deserves many more. I highly recommend this book to everyone. I look forward to more from Christian Boustead.
