I'm excited to see where they're taking this, but I'm upset at the possibility Wally West won't exist anymore. :(

Ido says

4.5

At the beginning of the episode we can see some of the high speed that Barry can reach, some of which we can see in Barry's whip when he is in three places (quite tight but) at the same time. And another taste when Barry at STAR Labs and he runs on the treadmill and the speed of the treadmill exploded, and when he manages to solve so many crimes so quickly that you do not see him moving at all. And there are all sorts of flashbacks at Barry's.

Bodea says

Nice intro to how mastering the speed force affects how Barry processes information around him. It clicked for him a little fast though. Hope there's more to it.

Bailey says

It's amazing. I can see everything before it happens. I can weigh every possible outcome. I can make the right choice. I can do something about it. Before anyone even notices.

Liz says

great
