Katie says

I read this book as a second grade readaloud before the students begin a research project on dinosaurs. I like it because it has a nice mix of adventure and facts for the students.

Maximilian Lee says

I think the book is for younger kids because the kids were learning about all the periods and dinosaurs and I learned that stuff a long time ago. However, this book is very educational.

Kristin says

It was a fun way of learning more about dinosaurs. I read it to my 5 year old, and while some of the information was advanced for her, I liked the pairing of fiction and non-fiction.

Suki says

Review by 5yo: I learned that you should stay away from some dinosaurs. Dinosaurs are real but not alive anymore. Are dinosaurs dead? Yes. Are dinosaurs alive? No.

Sophie_M says

Theresa says

science supplement to add to the classroom library

Morris says

"My favorite part was Liz, the crazy lizard, rescued Ralphie from the giant dinosaur."

Christina (Confessions of a Book Addict) says

A fun romp through the time of the dinosaurs - my son loved it!

Heather says

Magic School Bus stories are always fun and Dinosaur Detectives does not disappoint. It's packed with information (some slightly out of date) and jokes kids will love. I recommend this book to any kid interested in dinosaurs.

LuAnn says

Always a good teaching tool but not always effective for just reading, Magic School Bus sometimes takes too much time to stop the story and give information. All the sidebars can also be distracting, but elementary teachers seem to love the books anyway and I suppose the kids do too.

Heidi says

My kids love these, but I really don't enjoy reading these books to them. I think they are great for kids to read on their own when they are starting to read chapter books.

Melz (mele) manako says

it was cool it had heaps of facts like the big plant eaters plants eggs are the same size as a football and its funny when phoebe plays with the tiny dinosaurs. :) a very good book hope u like it.

Dolly says

We've read all of the Magic School Bus picture-books that we can find and now we're working our way through the chapter books, too. We just love the Friz and her class; the characters feel like old friends to us.

This story takes us to the age of the dinosaurs. It has a lot of factual information about the different dinosaurs that lived during different periods of time. There's a lot of excitement and danger in this tale and we enjoyed reading it together.
