Facing Death and the Life After Billy Graham

Christopher Lewis Kozoriz says

...the irreversible fact is that no matter what your diet, no matter how much you exercise, no matter how many vitamins or health foods you eat, no matter how low your cholesterol, you will still die-someday, some way. ~ Billy Graham

Billy Graham tackles the hard topic of death. I had a hard time at times reading this book because it is not a subject many people want to deal with. However, it will happen to all of us at one time or another. Although, those who trust in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior have eternal life and when they die, they don't actually die. (John 11:25)

3 practical things Billy Graham teaches in his book when preparing for death are:

1. Accept Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior;
2. Prepare a Will; and
3. Live a life today pleasing of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Michael Vincent says

A solid, scriptural, helpful work on facing death and the many issues surrounding death for individuals and families.

Another fascinating book from this amazing man! Not only is it full of spiritual "stuff", there is discussion of practical advice for end-of-life considerations as well as legal information re wills, advance directives, etc. Always a treat to read one of his books!

This non-fiction, inspirational book could be required reading for all Christians over 55. It is practical about getting your "house in order," and covers living wills, wills, burial, funerals, financial, and spiritual/afterlife considerations. It is not a fun read, but it is pithy. One of my favorite quotes is:

"Today we are confronted with so many voices telling us how to live. We are told how to look young, stay trim, keep healthy, have a good image, think positively, make more money, have more friends. All these are reasonable ambitions, but they indicate that we are trying desperately to cling to this present world. The truth is, life is transitory...If we want to make the most of life, we need to face the fact that it is going to end."

And this one:

"It has been said that someone found St. Francis working in his garden and asked him, "What would you do if you knew that you would die in ten minutes?" St. Francis replied, "I'd try to finish this row.""
