OMG! This novella!

Insta-love stories are either a hit or a miss for me. But this read really won me over in a snap. Love the H, love the h, love that this was a dual POV, and the narrative was direct to the point. I was doubtful about the huge age gap so I just put Henry Cavill up front and center with his previous girlfriend in my mind and it was all cool after that. Squeeeeee!

Dear Ms Harrison, this is impressive for a first work. I look forward to your books in the future. Maybe also a full length novel down the line? Yes or yes? Please and thank you.

Eve Recinella (Between The Bookends) says

Jordan Sinclair owns a string of successful sex shops. He is filthy rich. He is hot. They call him "MR. SIN" and he has NO plans on ever settling down. That is until this confirmed bachelor sets his eyes on eighteen-year-old Natalie Farrar.

One look at the innocent dark haired beauty has him rethinking his whole life plan. One touch and he knows that he will do everything and anything to keep her at his side forever.

"I'll be anything you want me to be," I growled. "Your daddy, your lover, your best friend, your savior, your hero, your provider. Anything you desire, I'm going to give you. Anything you need, I'm going to make it happen. Just tell me what you want."

WELL WELL WELL seems we got ourselves a new "super short - insta-love - smokin hot - alpha" writer in the hood. I LOVED this one. It was well written. It had likable characters. It was SMOKIN hot. The author even threw in a little "DADDY KINK". Which warmed my little kinky heart. We even get a nice little into the future epilogue.

So why not 5 stars. I wanted it to be longer. I was enjoying it so much and I think it could have easily translated into a longer book. Which brings me to my other wish. I wanted a little "angst." For how much of a manwhore Jordan was (even sleeping with married ladies) I wanted this to come back and bite him in the ass with Natalie. I would have liked to see him have to chase her a bit because of his philandering ways prior to her. It just would have added that extra "something" that would have made it a total 5 star read for me.

In anycase...I was much impressed with this author and will for sure be keeping my eyes out for future releases.

Leo (Queen of the Rants and the Crazy) says

Hero is 34 years old.

Heroine is 18 years old. I wish for once we get a book where the heroine is a LOT a LOT older than 18.

I wanted to rate it higher but I can't because there were a couple of things that I didn't like.

In the beginning he was making a beeline for some ow in his store but once he set his eyes on the heroine he forgot all about that woman but it showed that he was a manwhore and plus some of the references that he said but after he saw the heroine he didn't have eyes for anyone else.

He had a guest room in his house where he fucked ows because he couldn't stand to have the smell of ows in his room. I like for all my heroes to only have the heroine in their houses. That put me off but then he tells her some sweet things by then I wanted to rate it higher again but almost at the end they start having a dd/lg play and my rating went down again it wasn't bad but I usually stay away from that kind of play.

Sweet epilogue it goes 11 1/2 years after.

So I'm rating 3 stars that's all I can give..

Natalie The Biblioholic says

YES!!!!!! It was OTT everything and I loved it!!

The blurb literally sums up this story quite nicely. Jordan and Natalie instantly fall in love and live HEA. Instalove? Check. Hot AF dirty talk? Yup. Taboo relationship? Yessiree Bob. Hot and dirty AF sex? Check and check. Even the epilogue was freaking fun. My favourite words in this book were "plastic fantastic". I've never heard a dildo/vibrator described as such lol. I've now added a new go-to author for that light and fun read that is also palate cleansing!

HOT HOT HOTTTTT!!!!

That is all I can say!! This book is short, hot and hot. Oh and did I say hot??? Read this book when you are in the mood for smut!

Don't mind me while I go drop my kindle in the freezer! It's overheating from all the SMUT!!!

?Tonya? says

O-M-G! I absolutely loved this! Instalove, OTT alpha, and a really good story!

Initially, I thought Jordan was going to be a major douchebag. He had that arrogant cock-sure attitude. He was rich, sexy and did NOT do relationships. Casual sex was all he wanted with women.

“Go ahead and print that very thing if you want , but it isn’t the case with me. The truth is, I don’t do relationships because I think it would be shitty to let someone believe for even a second it might lead to marriage.”

All of that changed the minute he saw Natalie in one of his stores. Natalie knocked Jordan for a loop. He instantly fell head over heels for his "Angel".

At that moment I was so pissed I could’ve spit nails. Natalie needed protecting. I was feeling territorial and fucking angry that no one was caring for my girl the way she deserved. My eyes widened as I realized what I’d just thought. My girl? Holy shit. Mine. Mine.

Classic older man/younger woman story (did I mention I love that?). He is 33 and she is about to turn 19. He steps into her life and is all alpha caveman!

- rich older hero who turns into a caveman when he meets heroine
- younger, sweet heroine who seems older because she has always been around adults and was homeschooled while traveling with her mother for work.
- zero pushing away
- steamy sex scenes
- instalove
- absolutely no cheating or ow/om drama whatsoever
- fantastic epilogue with a HEA ending

This author is now on my radar for sure. Her author page states-

Evie Harrison writes what she loves. Strong and sexy alpha men being brought to their knees in an instant when they meet the women they love. Each of her books will contain insta love, incredible passion, and sizzling sex.

Sounds right up my alley!

WOWZA

Loved it, had my favourite formula of a low angst, insta-love with an older alpha male :)

This author has now joined my favourites list for writing OTT alpha males!

4.5 PERFECTLY SINFUL STARS

I had no expectation when I picked up this book Amazon recommend it to me because I read AR books. Well AMAZON GOT THIS ONE RIGHT!! That hardly ever happens here.

This story is sticky sweet and smoking hot!

It's about a sex toy business owner-inventor coming into his many shops to see his accountant and finding the ONE!

The girl he can't live without, and she is holding a dildo he comes right up to her and says "...you won't need that." (OH MY did it get hotter in here?)

Now the story goes she has to finish her courses and in order to do so she has to follow an accountant around. His accountant as it turns out.(I know it's weird but I will allow it as it works here.)

The hero is embarrassed to have her at his shop and exposing his sweet angel to all this filth so he offers to take her home to show her about running a business. (I don't understand it here I just go with it.)

They start off from there with him being protective and loving at every turn. They do call each other Angel and Daddy so some DDIg play is involved but it's VERY VERY MILD! Blink and you miss it. He even gets himself tested here guys and uses condoms. He wants to make sure it's safe for his Angel.

My favorite hero of all time in smut here!!!

The whole book is safe, hero is a man whore and she is a virgin (she is only 19 and been home school so makes sense), no cheating, no ex, no ow/om, condoms always used until medical clearance is given!!!

Gi's Spot Reviews says

This was a great smutty insta-love read, and for an debut novella, it was fantastically written.

This book is safe from cheating and from the moment Jordan sets his eyes on Natalie nobody else exists for him, and he becomes the perfect OTT alpha obsessed boyfriend, with her as the center of his world.

The only reason why I didn't rate it higher was because there were some elements about the H's sexual that stole from my personal enjoyment of the story. But like I said, this had to do with my own personal pet peeves.

I really loved how he loved her and I would recommend this book to all my smut loving reader friends! I can't wait to read more from the author!

Liked it a lot.. just really wanted more!

Nothing beats an OTT alpha male that loves his woman completely. Great debut novella by this author. I can't wait to see what she writes next.

Tink Magoo is bad at reviews says

There's insta-love and then there's this book's version of insta-love which was quicker than the quickest premature ejaculator. Seriously!

But do you know what? I enjoyed it, even the cheese.

3.5 to 4*

Having read and loved 'Sweet Like Candy' I looked around for other books from this author and came across 'Sin's Temptation' this follows the exact same format just featuring a different couple the only real difference is in this book Jordan is a manwhore.

Jordan Sinclair is a thirty-four year old billionaire and in his own words

"Life is great,"

So great, I didn't think it was even conceivable that it could be even better. No commitments, no entanglements, no children caught in the crossfire between raging parents.

I damn sure intended to keep it that way.

Well that was the plan until the second he catches sight of eighteen year old Natalie Farrar and he knows instantly she's his and his for life.

Luckily for him Natalie feels the exact same way and things change quickly for both of them.

Again I loved this book and again it's super sweet, cute and hot.
